Pickthall Reappears—The Story of His Career in the West.

An Illinois Sheriff's Posse Terrorize a Crowded Railway Car—An Austrian With a Grievance for Blaine.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] A cablegram from London says: Douglas Green and Mrs. Snell-McCrea, who ran away to Europe, are at swordspoints, and an eruption is likely to take place at any moment. Report says the pair are stopping at the Savoy Hotel, and that remorse has overtaken the murdered banker's daughter, who laments her ruined life and besmirched character. Mrs. Snell, who was summoned from Chicago, is with her daughter.

The reports that Green is trying to come to some arrangement with his relatives by which he can return to this city are verified.

A friend of the family states that if Green should reach New York he will be cited to appear for examination into his mental condition.

PICKTHALL'S STORY.

Why He Disappeared — His Adventure with Thieves.

WOODSTOCK (Ont.), April 1.—Neville H. Pickthall, who mysteriously disappeared about the time Burchell and party arrived in this country and who was supposed to be connected with Burchell, arrived here today.

Pickthall makes the following statement: "I left Woodstock on Monday, February 10th. I went through to Buffalo that night. I remained in Buffalo until Wednesday afternoon, the 12th, when I took the train for New York. On one occasion there I thought I recognized Mr. Burchell. I did not see Burchell; indeed, I would not have known him as Burchell, and although I looked in the register, not finding the name of Somerset there, I had no idea he was really in the hotel. I stayed in New York from Wednesday until the following Monday, when I bought a transcontinental ticket to California, and took the train. At Deming, N. M., I missed my train. I was drinking then, and must have pulled out a large bill, which some one around must have seen, for before I knew what was going on I was perfectly stupid. I was drugged. It was there and then that I lost my money. I had just enough left to take me to Tucson, and there I went. When I left Woodstock it was with the intention of changing my mode of living. The impulse came suddenly upon me to seek a shelter—to make my home some place else. I decided to raise [illegible] there are no more [illegible] there.

A CASE FOR BLAINE.

An American Citizen Expelled from Austria.

NEW YORK, April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] Stephen Zaro, a naturalized American citizen, who resided several years with an older brother, who keeps a restaurant in Santa Cruz, Cal., visited his old home, in Dalmatia, Austria, in 1888, when his father was dying. His father left an estate of $30,000, and his mother being old and feeble, asked Stephen to assume charge of the estate until it could be disposed of without sacrifice. He remained until recently, when, according to a story in the World, the Governor of Dalmatia gave him three days to leave the country. He had his citizen's papers and a passport. He claims that neither the American Consul at Trieste nor Minister Grant afforded him any satisfaction when he complained to them of his treatment. As soon as he reaches California he will seek legal advice, and without delay have the case officially called to the attention of Secretary Blaine.

"THROW UP YOUR HANDS."

Railway Passengers Terrified by a Sheriff's Posse.

DUBUQUE (Iowa), April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] While a passenger train on the St. Paul road was running east from Mt. Carroll, Ill., this morning, the door of a crowded coach was flung open and half a dozen men, with drawn revolvers, entered. The leader cried out, "Throw up your hands!" The passengers were panic-stricken, fearing train-robbers. The men proved to be the Sheriff of Mt. Carroll and a posse, who had located a couple of notorious safe-blowers in the car. The men were seized, handcuffed and taken back to Mt. Carroll.

ANNAPOLIS, April 1.—The special legislative committee to investigate the accounts of Treasurer Archer has drawn up a paper informing Gov. Jackson that there is sufficient proof that the Treasurer is a defaulter. They leave the case to the Governor for action against Archer for malfeasance.

Treasurer Archer's son came to the Governor's office today and handed in his father's resignation. It is not known what action he will take.

Another Railway Deal.

NEW YORK, April 1.—

Red Rice's.

426, 428, 430 and 432 S. Spring st.

LOS ANGELES, MARCH 30.—APRIL finds us with a grand stock of furniture, which has been bought so that we can sell it very low, and we will sell it cheap. Verily, it astonishes new visitors when first getting prices at Red Rice's. Firstly, they do not expect to find such goods. There is none better offered in the city. Secondly, the prices are so very reasonable, so much less than they have been accustomed to; and it often happens that the visitor buys a better article than was at first intended, because the price rules as low as a poorer article can be got elsewhere. We pride ourselves in selling good goods cheap. Our business having grown to such proportions that we get most everything wanted in housekeeping, and in large quantities. Any person wanting to sell anything, from a Kitchen Table to a Dogcart, comes to Red Rice's. This gives us the pick of the market, and offers you such a large stock to select from. RED RICE'S.

THE WATCH GAME.

An Attempt to Work It on a Kansas Visitor.

Night before last the old, well-worn watch game was worked on a tenderfoot from Kansas, and had he not left his money at his hotel he would have been robbed. It seems that a young man arrived here from Kansas a few days ago, and put up at one of the hotels. He acted like a man of some means, and before he had been in the city many hours a bunco thief set eyes on him, and, in the smooth way those individuals have, he approached the tenderfoot, and in a few hours they were, to all appearances, the best of friends. The sharper proposed a stroll through Chinatown as soon as he learned that the young man had never visited the Chinese quarters in any city.

The eastern man was highly delighted with his experience among the heathen, and all went well until the bunco man met a friend of his whom he claimed he had not seen for some years. The stranger claimed to be in trouble, and called the bunco man to one side. After talking in whispers a few minutes the sharper came back to the tenderfoot and said:

"My friend here is in a peck of trouble. His baggage has just arrived from the East, and if he does not take it out tonight he will l

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

QUESTION OF ITS CONSTITUTIONALITY CONSIDERED.

Synopsis of City Attorney McFarland's Argument in the Kubach Case on Appeal Before Judge Cheney—The Principles Involved in the Proposition as an Economic Question—The Facts and the Law.

When the contracts for building the new schoolhouses were drawn, a strong eight-hour clause was inserted, and the result has been that two of the contractors were caught violating the contract and eight-hour ordinance, and were prosecuted by the City Attorney, convictions being secured in the magistrate's court. One of them, C. J. Kubach, has taken an appeal to the Superior Court, claiming, among other things, that the law is unconstitutional. As the question is a new one, which has not yet been decided by the courts, a portion of the argument made by the City Attorney before Judge Cheney regarding the validity of the act is given, as follows:

CITY ATTORNEY M'FARLAND'S ARGUMENT.

If the eight-hour law contrary to either the express provisions or the spirit of the Constitution? To discuss this question as fully as we would wish, and with that thoroughness commensurate with the importance of a great economic question, would perhaps tax the time and attention of the Court more than the case at the bar would seem to merit. We shall attempt, therefore, to limit the scope to as narrow a channel as possible, preferring to state the mere principles involved rather than to enter into the breadth and depth of the proposition. In the first place, the general idea which seems to prevail in regard to the eight-hour law is the erroneous idea that by its enforcement the laborer is seeking to secure for eight hours' labor the same remuneration which he has heretofore received for the labor of a greater number of hours. Ordinance No. 7 was so framed as to expressly and emphatically remove that impression. This ordinance neither directly nor indirectly seeks to control or influence the rate of compensation, but merely to control and limit the number of hours in which labor shall be performed upon public work. Whatever the lawmakers may have intended, the two most apparent objects of the ordinance, in thus lessening the hours of labor, are to increase the number of hours for recreation and rest, and to furnish a greater number of laborers with the means of livelihood. The first of these objects is a good one, whatever the conditions as to supply and demand may be; the second is desirable only when the conditions are such that the supply of laborers is greater than the supply of work. It is hardly necessary to argue that such is now the case in almost all parts of the world. Adopting our opponents' statement that the right to labor is the property of the laborer, does it not follow that a distribution of the opportunity to labor among a greater number is far better than to confine it to a lesser, even though the average amount to each be decreased. If labor or the right to labor be property, is it not better for each that all should have a portion of such property than that some should have none? Does not that which benefits the whole really benefit each, and is not the converse of this proposition also true. Can that which benefits and improves the condition of the working classes be said to interfere with and abridge those rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed by the Constitution. The general enforcement of the eight-hour law would directly benefit the laborer and, therefore, indirectly benefit capital, and all the commercial evils of idleness, coupled with poverty. Its general enforcement would improve the condition and character of the laborer by the increased leisure and social opportunities thereby afforded. Steady employment, coupled with leisure and less exhaustion, would create more wholesome and better appointed homes, a greater amount of general social intercourse and all the moral, intellectual and social improvements which necessarily result from such conditions.

Counsel for petitioner informs us that a strong, healthy man, upon the kind of work in the case at bar, can work longer than eight hours and should be permitted to do so if he so desires. As it is not in the nature of things that a contractor would hire some for a greater number of hours and others for a less, in accordance with their strength and ability, what will he do with that great army of laborers who, being neither strong nor healthy, yet have to labor for the support of themselves and their families?

Section 17 of article 20 of the Constitution of this State is as follows: "Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work on all public work."

Section 3245 of the Political Code is as follows: "Eight hours' labor constitute a legal day's work in all cases where the same is performed under the authority of any law of this State, or under the direction, control, or by the authority of any officer of this State acting in his official capacity, or under the direction, control, or by the authority of any municipal corporation within this State, or of any officer thereof, acting as such; and a stipulation to that effect must be made a part of all contracts to which the State or any municipal corporation therein is a party."

Ordinance No. 7 goes but one step further, in that it provides that the violation of this law by a contractor while having labor performed under a contract with the municipality, is punishable as a misdemeanor.

It is admitted by petitioner that the contract with the city, under which the labor in this instance was performed, contained the stipulation required by section 3245 of the Political Code and by section 1 of the ordinance, which stipulation, for Your Honor's information, we insert, as follows: "It is further understood and agreed that eight hours' labor shall constitute a day's work, and that said party of the first part will not contract for, receive or require more than eight hours' labor for a day's work of any person employed upon said work."

If petitioner made such a contract, can he now be heard to claim that his rights have been invaded when for a violation of his contract with the city it is sought to punish him therefor? What rights are invaded? Is he compelled to enter into contracts with the city of Los Angeles? Does ordinance No. 7 interfere with his obtaining as much labor as he may need or desire? Does it attempt to interfere with the price which he shall pay for the same? Does it do more than place a reasonable limit upon the number of hours he shall compel his laborers to work in one day?

Chief Justice Marshall, in Fletcher vs. Peck (6 Cranch, 87, 128) uses the following language: "The question whether a law be void for its repugnancy to the Constitution is at all times a question of such delicacy, which ought seldom, if ever, to be decided in the affirmative in a doubtful case. The Court, when impelled by duty to render such a judgment, would be unworthy of its station could it be unmindful of the solemn obligation which that station imposes; but it is not on slight implication and vague conjecture that the Legislature is to be pronounced to have transcended its powers, and its acts to be considered as void. The opposition between the Constitution and the law should be such that the Judge feels a clear and strong conviction of their incompatibility with each other."

Mr. Justice Washington, in the case of Ogden vs. Saunders (12 Wheat. 213), uses the following language: "It is but a decent respect due to the wisdom, the integrity and the patriotism of the legislative body by which any law is passed, to presume in favor of its validity until its violation of the Constitution is proved beyond all reasonable doubt."

On this point we respectfully refer Your Honor to Cooley's Constitutional Limitations, page 213, et seq. (5th Ed.).

"Those assailing statute on ground of invalidity must make out clear case of usurpation." (Baugher vs. Nelson, 59 Amer. Dec., 694.)

"Statute must be manifestly unconstitutional to warrant the Court in declaring it void." (35 Amer. Dec., 543, 594; 36 Amer. Dec., 44; 41 Amer. Dec., 636; 46 Amer. Dec., 447; 13 Amer. Dec., 248; 53 Amer. Dec., 575.)

It is true that we are unable to cite decisions in which the question in the case at bar has been passed upon, for the reason that the question is comparatively a new one, and in those States where the law has been adopted no cases testing its constitutionality have as yet reached the courts of last resort. But we will cite a few of the numerous cases in which similar abridgements and limitations of the rights and privileges guaranteed by the Constitution have been held valid, because reasonable and manifestly within the police powers and for the general good.

"Laws intended to regulate the enjoyment of natural rights of persons do not impair, but foster and promote those rights, and to provide such laws is the essential object and purpose of government." (Ex parte Smith, 38 Cal., 702.)

In this case an ordinance prohibiting the playing of musical instruments in drinking saloons after midnight in the city of San Francisco is held not in conflict with the provision of the Constitution "that all men have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness."

"The clause in the Constitution guaranteeing the right of 'acquiring property' does not deprive the legislature of the power of prescribing the mode of acquisition, or of regulating the conduct and relations of the members of society in respect to property rights." (Ex parte Andrews, 18 Cal., 679.)

In this case Andrews was convicted of keeping open a store for the transaction of business on Sunday in violation of an "Act for the observance of the Sabbath." Held not in conflict with the State or Federal constitutions, and this decision is cited in numerous cases, both in this State and other States. (See also 60 Cal., 177; 133 Mass., 42; 31 Minn., 200.)

Making it a misdemeanor to sell liquors within one mile of the University of California. Held constitutional in, (Ex parte McClain, 61 Cal., 437.)

Law prohibiting the working in laundries in the city of San Francisco between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Held constitutional. (Ex parte Moyler, 65 Cal., 33.)

Ordinance of the city of San Francisco prohibiting the erection and maintenance of laundries unless constructed of certain materials. Held constitutional. (Ex parte White, 67 Cal., 102.)

Section 340 Penal Code making it a misdemeanor for pawnbrokers to charge interest at a greater rate than 2 per cent. per month. Held constitutional. (Ex parte Liebtenstein, 67 Cal., 359.)

Ordinance prohibiting the keeping of more than two cows within certain limits of the city of San Francisco. Held constitutional. (In re Linehan, 72 Cal., 114.)

Law prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons is not opposed to the provision of Constitution declaring "that every citizen has a right to bear arms in defense of himself and the State." (State vs. Chandler, 32 Amer. Dec., 599; State vs. Reed, 35 Amer. Dec., 44.)

Statute of Massachusetts prohibiting the employment of all persons under 18 years of age and of all women over that age for more than 60 hours per week in any manufacturing establishment held constitutional. (Commonwealth vs. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, 120 Mass., 383.)

This Massachusetts case is more like the case at bar than any we have been able to find. In our case as in that, to use the language of the court, "the law in question does not forbid any person, firm or corporation from employing as many persons or as much labor as such persons, firm or corporation may desire."

In conclusion, the question resolves itself to this: Is the limitation upon the rights guaranteed by the federal Constitution, as that limitation is expressed in our State Constitution (section 17, article xx.), and in section 3245 of the Political Code, and in ordinance No. 7 of the city of Los Angeles, a reasonable limitation and such as may be maintained as a health or police regulation? We believe that it is. We believe that a statute which prohibited the employment of persons to labor more than six hours per day in a jute mill would be valid; that a statute which prohibited the employment of persons for more than four hours per day in a quicksilver mine valid; and we believe that a statute which prohibited the employment of laborers over eight hours per day upon any public or municipal work [illegible] with the [illegible] of this State and of the United States.

For these reasons, we respectfully submit, the prisoner should be remanded.

Judge Cheney has the case under advisement and will give a decision in a few days.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Business Rather Dull—Visitors to the Rooms Yesterday.

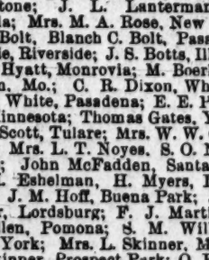
Business was rather dull about the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. John Scott was the only person who brought fresh fruit in, and Mrs. F. O. Carr and Mrs. H. W. Cowles furnished some fresh flowers, which were placed in the main hall.

Quite a number of Los Angeles people visited the hall, but there were few from outside the city.

The following visitors to the city signed the great register: Mrs. Allen L. Modesitte, Indiana; S. R. Maclay, San Fernando; E. S. Burlingame, Gardena; W. L. Van Dyke, Pennsylvania; Fred Burlingame, Gardena; A. Hickok, Gladstone; J. L. Lanterman, La Cañada; Mrs. M. A. Rose, New York; F. C. Bolt, Blanch C. Bolt, Pasadena; J. Kyle, Riverside; J. S. Botts, Illinois; C. M. Hyatt, Monrovia; M. Boerhvare, Fulton, Mo.; C. R. Dixon, Whittier; G. W. White, Pasadena; E. E. Parmelee, Minnesota; Thomas Gates, Yuma; L. B. Scott, Tulare; Mrs. W. W. Clark, Ohio; Mrs. L. T. Noyes, S. O. Noyes, Texas; John McFadden, Santa Ana; M. M. Eshelman, H. Myers, Lordsburg; J. M. Hoff, Buena Park; J. M. Kiefer, Lordsburg; F. J. Martin, R. A. Allen, Pomona; S. M. Williams, New York; Mrs. L. Skinner, Mrs. F. W. Skinner, Prospect Park; O. E. and Florence E. Goodall, Soldiers' Home; Mrs. B. L. Taylor, Portland, Or.; E. C. Coffman, Rivera; S. B. Sackett, Wisconsin; F. M. Raymond, Norfork.

Woman Suffragists.

The Woman Suffrage Association held its annual meeting for the election of officers yesterday afternoon, at the Unity Church parlors. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. M. V. Longley; vice-president, Mrs. Matilda Barri; recording secretary, Mrs. E. A. Lawrance; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Sophia Knight; treasurer, Mrs. A. S. Marshall; chairman of executive committee, Mrs. Alice M. McComas. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Kingsbury and Mrs. Caroline M. Severance were elected honorary vice-presidents of the association.



FRED H. BLECKER.

Fred H. Blecker, an old time newspaper and theatrical man, writes from the Baldwin Hotel, S. F., "No ordinary occurrence could induce me to allow my name to be used, but I have been troubled with dyspepsia in its worst form and indigestion. Before I tried Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, I spent many a dollar on remedies without relief. My misery was so great at times it seemed as if I should die. In three days I found Joy was in that bottle, and the second put me on my feet. It will dig the grave of many a victim.

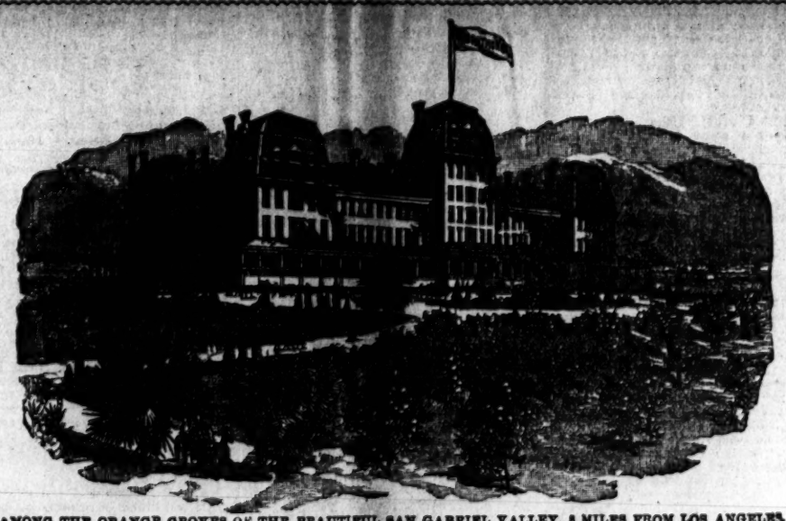
Hotels.

The Raymond, East Pasadena.



AMONG THE ORANGE GROVES OF THE BEAUTIFUL SAN GABRIEL VALLEY. 8 MILES FROM LOS ANGELES.

C. H. MERRILL, Manager (during the summer season manager of the Crawford House, White Mountains, N. H.).

If you cannot go out to the Raymond and spend a day, a week, or a month, or the whole season, then go out and stay a few hours. It is well worth your while to see the magnificent view from its piazzas; and that view alone will well repay you, although there are many other interesting features—especially the grand display of flowers in the hotel grounds, which are now under the charge of Mr. C. H. Hovey, the celebrated landscape gardener, formerly of Hovey's Nurseries, Cambridge, Mass. Tourists visiting Los Angeles should make a trip to The Raymond, even if their stay there must necessarily be brief. There are frequent trains between Los Angeles and The Raymond by several lines of railroad. The orchestra consists of four soloists, who render the choicest of music twice each day. A very complete livery is connected with the hotel and it is an excellent starting-point for a drive through the San Gabriel Valley, in which are situated the San Gabriel Mission Church, Rose's winery, Lucky Baldwin's stock farm, the Sierra Madre Villa, and many other places of interest.

Full particulars regarding board and other matters can be obtained by addressing C. H. MERRILL, Manager of The Raymond, East Pasadena, California.

SENATOR STEWART has introduced a bill regulating the manufacture, sale and importation of lager beer. Beer containing anything except hops, malt and water is designated as adulterated beer, upon manufacturers of which taxes are imposed. Consumers of malt liquor would be grateful for such a law.

THE Senate Committee on the Census has so eliminated the important features of the bill providing for furnishing certificates to Chinese residents by census enumerators as to make it of little value for the purpose which the framers of the bill had in view. Eastern public opinion is being rapidly educated on the Chinese question, but Congress appears to lag behind the public.

THE Marysville Democrat has the following sensible remarks on roads, which we commend to the attention of our Board of Supervisors:

Good roads are less expensive than bad roads. A team will draw a greater number of pounds on a good road. It facilitates travel and thereby exchanges. The farmer is enabled to get his produce to market at any time of the year. It brings the rancher and the merchant nearer to each other, to their mutual advantage. It enhances the value of property along it, and by producing a favorable impression on strangers encourages immigration.

OUR STATE'S NEEDS—VIEWS OF A PRACTICAL MAN.

William H. Mills possesses the quality of "level-headedness" to a large degree. When he expresses an opinion on a subject it is worth listening to. In the course of an address delivered at a meeting of the State Board of Trade in San Francisco, a few days ago, Mr. Mills gave some very valuable hints as to what California just now needs to give her that position which her marvelous resources entitle her to.

The great disadvantages which the people of this State labor under are, according to Mr. Mills, large land holdings, our distance from markets, and the lack of manufacturing enterprises.

Large land holdings in California have been its curse. They have "displaced settlement and eliminated civilization." The ranch house of the large landholders of California is usually utterly devoid of attractive features. The contrast between the counties of Los Angeles and Colusa is pointed to as due to the difference between the systems of large wheat ranches and 20-acre irrigated farms. One county is prosperous, while the other is at a standstill.

As to our manufacturing interests, they are insignificant, in comparison with the East, which is all the more regretable on account of the heavy double tax which we have to pay for freight. Thus, wool, which is largely raised here, is shipped east, paying freight on 40 per cent. of dirt. The wool is worth from fourteen to twenty cents a pound here; when reimported, we pay from one to two dollars a pound for it. We export hops and barley and import beer, paying freight on water and barrels. San Francisco alone consumes $18,000,000 worth of beer annually, a large portion of which is imported. Then, again, such produce as potatoes and chickens are largely imported from the East, and the former even from Europe.

With such a condition of affairs prevailing as these, which Mr. Mills so graphically sets forth, it is indeed wonderful that California has made the progress which it has. When our large land holdings are cut up and productive industries established, we shall take a start which will astonish not only outsiders, but ourselves.

THE COMING CENSUS.

The taking of the eleventh census of the population of the Union will begin on the 1st of next June. Under the law the enumeration must be completed within 15 days in the towns and within 30 days in the country districts. Mr. Porter, the Superintendent of the Census, expects with the aid of electrical computing machines to give the principal results within 20 days after the last schedule has been received. It is probable, therefore, that we shall know the exact number of the population before the 1st of August. The neighborhood of 65,000,000, or 30 per cent. more than in 1880, and more than twice the population of the Union at the outbreak of the Civil War. Of this total about 56,000,000 will be whites and more than 8,850,000 blacks, if each of the races has maintained its ratio of increase as computed in the last census, or 29.20 per cent. for the whites and 34.67 per cent. for the blacks. But the Sun doubts that the negroes are increasing so much faster proportionately. If they are, and if they go on at that rate, they will form one-third of the population by the middle of the next century.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

Much attention has been drawn throughout the country to the decision of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin, holding that the reading of the Bible in the public schools is unconstitutional. The court appreciated the gravity of the case in question, and in consequence three justices rendered separate opinions on different phases of the matter, the entire court concurring in the main point at issue.

The particular case at issue is known as the Edgerton Bible case. It had been the habit of the teachers in the Edgerton schools to read the Bible at the opening of each day's session, using the King James's version in such exercises. Some Catholic parents of the city, whose children attended the public schools, protested against this, and appealed to the Circuit Court for a writ of mandamus, compelling the school board to have the practice stopped or show cause for not so doing.

Justice Orton filed an opinion, presenting more particularly the view that the spirit and tenor of the Constitution and of the State organization is an entire separation of State and church throughout all the departments and all the public institutions, of which the common school system is one of the most essential.

PARTY "ORGAN"-ISM.

There is a noticeable tendency on the part of the editors of this country to free themselves from the exploded party "organ" idea, and to assert their independent manhood.

A Kansas politician, in a speech delivered recently at Olathe, in that State, said:

If the party nominate a yellow dog it was their duty to stand by him and vote the straight ticket.

This moves one of our Northern California exchanges, the Calaveras Prospect, to remark as follows:

We are thoroughly in accord with a contemporary who says: "There has been altogether too much 'yellow dog' politics, and it is time that the people were taught the duty of scratching the 'yellow dog,' or any other kind of a dog that comes before them for their approval, even if he does wear the party collar."

The idea that it is the duty of every voter to support the "yellow dog" has been exploded long ago. This is nothing but rabid partisanship. We believe in the "survival of the fittest," and every voter in the land should be educated up to this standard.

AT a meeting of the State Board of Trade in San Francisco N. P. Chipman of Red Bluff brought out some striking statistics of State population. He showed that in eight years Colusa county had increased in school attendance 64; Solano county had decreased 509 in the same time; Sacramento county had decreased by 360; San Joaquin county, a very large and fertile county, had increased but 612 in its school attendance; San Bernardino had increased in that time 3329 children of school age, and Los Angeles had increased its school attendance in eight years by 16,174, an increase of population of nearly one hundred thousand in that time in this county.

REFERRING to the effect of high license in Philadelphia the Bulletin of that city, in the course of a long review of the subject, says:

It is of course impossible to show by statistics any direct proof of the effect of the law on the general manners and morals of the people, except so far as the prison figures go in their bearing on the habitually vicious or criminal population. But the testimony of those who are probably most competent to form an opinion as to the extent of such vices—the police magistrates and judges—is almost uniformly that there has been a marked change for the better. This is the judgment also of all those who have any opportunity of observing the convivial customs of the town and comparing them with the same kind of customs in former years. It is manifest that drunkenness has come to be regarded with more severity by public opinion; that it subjects its victim to more contempt, and that it has largely lost its character as a merely convivial dissipation.

IF the prohibitory amendment which passed the last New York Legislature is adopted by the present one, it will be voted on by the people next November. The amendment has already been reported favorably by the Senate Judiciary Committee, and the prospects are said to be that it will go through both houses. It seems scarcely probable that prohibition can become a fact in New York. Should it be so, the result will certainly be much evasion, bribery, hypocrisy and consumption of villainous poisons.

THE San Diego Sun pokes fun at Los Angeles because Congress has not so far done much for our harbors. Let ur contemporary control its feelings and repress its chuckling. Los Angeles will get its share of the river and harbor appropriations. Our papers do not make so much of this subject as do those of San Diego, for the reason that we do not have to depend so largely on our harbor resources as San Diego does. Bay and climate are very goods things; but ——.

THE Union League had a significant and satisfactory election of directors yesterday.

AMUSEMENTS.

MRS. HUMPHREY-SMITH'S RECITAL.—There was a large audience, composed of such people as the announcement of an entertainment under the auspices of the Channing Club always attracts, present last night at the Church of the Unity, to listen to another dramatic reader, whose reputation had been heralded here with copious press extracts conveying unstinted praise. The audience, large as it was, would probably have been larger if late experience had not made our public wary of the traveling elocutionist, whose performance has usually failed to come up to the standard of advertised excellence.

In the case of Mrs. Louise Humphrey-Smith it is pleasant to be able to record an exception to the late prevailing rule and to be able to say in plain sincerity that the entertainment was one of unusual merit. Her selections were chosen with discrimination, and consequently worthy of high commendation.

The chief features of the programme consisted of extracts from The Merchant of Venice and from Henry the Fifth. The other selections were short and good, and the programme in its entirety showed good taste in the selection, especially in the absence of such pieces of inferior merit as are too often inserted to please a supposed unintelligent audience.

Mrs. Smith's greatest charm is in the possession of a voice which, while not great in its range, has wonderful flexibility, and is capable of exquisite modulations. It is so sweet and rich that it is impossible for her to do anything like justice to the gutturals of "Shylock," and in her manliest personations she apparently cannot help introducing musical inflections which are so essentially womanly as to be foreign to the character assumed. It is on this account that her personation of several characters in The Merchant of Venice lacked the requisite shading and variety. But, aside from the matter of personation, she interprets the noble lines of the great poet with an intelligence that is as unusual as it is delightful. She possesses the difficult art of correct delivery of blank verse almost to perfection, and particularly in the scenes where "Portia" speaks there is little to which the most captious critic could take exception.

Her pronunciation, emphasis and inflection, together with her refined and self-contained gestures afford a study well worthy the attention of the aspiring elocutionists who are striving to become great.

The programme was relieved by the singing of the Nonos Quartette, composed of Mmes. L. F. Scott, J. S. Owens, Parsons and Miss Leila Breed. Attired uniformly in somber black, relieved only by bright flowers, these ladies sang the "Invitation to the Dance," by Oesten, and on a unanimous recall gave the "Miller's Song," by Zöliner, and it is needless to say scored a most brilliant success.

Mrs. Humphrey-Smith's next readings will be given tomorrow night, the chief feature being a selection from "Miles Standish," which with other selections and some musical pieces will make a most attractive programme.

ATTRACTIONS FOR NEXT WEEK.—The expected visit of Rudolph Aronson's company, which is coming here to give performances of the principal successes of the regular company now performing at the New York Casino, is exciting a good deal of attention among the lovers of music, and especially of light opera, as interpreted by companies under Aronson's control. Nadjy, Erminie and The Black Hussar are the three operas with which Los Angeles is to be favored, and it goes without saying that everybody will be there.

The sale of seats begins tomorrow morning at the Grand Opera-house.

At the Los Angeles Theater we are promised The Waifs of New York. The title of the piece is sufficiently suggestive of its melodramatic nature, and the brilliant colored pictures adorning the town tell the rest. There are to be sensational scenes of the most exciting and harrowing description, and an attractive young lady in trousers is to play the heroic newsboy, "Willie Rufus," who is the principal character in the piece.

AMONG THE POLITICIANS.

Col. H. H. Markham of Los Angeles is the man that all Democrats in the State are hoping will not receive the Republican nomination for Governor. That is a strong and good reason why he should receive the nomination. —[San Diego Informant.

According to the San Francisco Examiner's special correspondent at Washington, Samuel W. Backus will receive the appointment of postmaster at San Francisco, an office he held previous to Mr. Cleveland's election. Mr. Backus is editor of the San Francisco Wasp.

Gov. Waterman has spiked one Prohibition gun. He has appointed Henry French a Normal School Trustee. Mr. French has been talked of by the Prohibitionists in connection with the Governorship, and on the very day he received his commission his candidacy was given a boom in Stockton at the Prohibition county convention of San Joaquin. Can Mr. French be a candidate against Gov. Waterman and still hold office by his appointment?—[San José Times.

The new State of Washington joins the procession of ballot-reform States. The Australian bill, which recently passed both branches of the Legislature, has received the approval of the Governor.

The Harrisburg Patriot, state organ of the Pennsylvania Democracy, comes out in a rather savage pronunciamento against the remarkably successful high license legislation of that State, which has been instrumental in closing up the lower class of groggeries. It is suspected that the Pennsylvania Democrats intend to make their next fight squarely upon this issue.

The election in Sacramento has proved a great surprise to every one. E. J. Gregory, the Republican nominee for reëlection to the office of Mayor, was defeated by W. D. Comstock, the Democratic candidate, by 4 votes. All the balance of the Republican candidates were elected by majorities ranging from one thousand to fifteen hundred. Mayor Gregory charges treachery, and in an interview said: "Three months ago a well-known citizen of Sacramento told me Gov. Waterman had said he intended to dispose of me as a possible candidate for Governor by seeing that I was defeated for Mayor." Gregory also claims that a large amount of money was used against him, and that he thought he knew where it came from. From this instance it does look as though something was wrong somewhere. Waterman may be a much-maligned man, but the indications are strongly in favor of the supposition that points for the Governor are to be gained, no matter what the financial cost may be. —[San Diego Informant.

Markham for Governor.

[San Francisco Wasp.]

In Republican circles of Southern California the concentration of public sentiment seems to be in favor of the nomination of Col. H. H. Markham for Governor. It is a significant fact that THE TIMES and the Evening Express of Los Angeles do not hesitate to speak plainly in his support. There is no question concerning the qualifications of that gentleman, and in point of availability he is certainly one of the favorites.

Col. Markham is not of his own volition a candidate. He will not press his claims for the nomination, but if it is tendered to him he will enter the contest to win. The recent declarations of the Los Angeles journals above mentioned show that his claims will be pressed in the convention by a large and intelligent following in the southern counties.

Col. Markham's public career, like his conduct in private life, is not marred by a blemish. In Congress he served his constituents with admirable fidelity and marked success. No better test of his fitness for the performance of public duties could be desired than that shown during his service in the House of Representatives.

Col. Markham was a Union soldier in the war which saved the Union, and his service was performed in the field, where the enemies of the country were massed, and not in the rear, where the contractors and politicians were assembled.

Elsewhere we publish an extract from the LOS ANGELES TIMES indorsing Hon. H. H. Markham of that city as the Republican candidate for Governor. THE TIMES is, perhaps, the most influential paper south of San Francisco, and its advocacy of any candidate must have weight in Southern California. Nor do we think THE TIMES has placed its support in the wrong quarter.

Henry H. Markham has served one term in Congress to the satisfaction of his constituents, and has a record as clean and honorable as any public man can show. He never has sought public office, and even now is not seeking the nomination for the Governorship. If he should be tendered the nomination, it will be a case of the office seeking the man.

Mr. Markham is about 50 years old, and has a record of honorable service in the war. He has resided in this State since 1879, and has been actively engaged in business, and is esteemed as a citizen wherever known. His nomination would mean his election, and should he become our Governor, California would have no occasion to blush for his acts. We could support Hon. Henry H. Markham for Governor of the Golden State with unalloyed pleasure.

A MYSTERY.

A Young Woman Found Apparently in a Dying Condition.

Early last evening Sergt. Jeffries found a woman on one of the benches at the Seventh-street power-house in what he supposed to be a dying condition. The patrol wagon was sent for and she was taken to the police station, where she was booked for medical treatment.

She was turned over to Jailer Hare, and in a few minutes she became conscious, and when questioned stated that her home is Sacramento and that she has only been down here a short time. She gave her name as Pauline Clinton, and said her parents, who are quite well off, support her. She was shown a bank in the receiving hospital and told to go to bed. In about three-quarters of an hour Jailor Hare looked in the room and saw that she was again unconscious.

When she was first brought in the Police Surgeon examined her, and decided that she had taken an overdose of opium or morphine, but when he was called in a second time he could not understand her case. She seemed to be in a dying condition, and all that could be done was to apply electricity, which seemed to keep life in her body. At an early hour this morning she was still alive, but not expected to live until morning. She has the appearadce of being a working girl. The girl denies that she has taken anything in the way of drugs or medicine of any description.

Badly Frightened.

For several nights past the occupants of a lodging-house on Temple street opposite the cable-road power-house have been annoyed by a "peeping Tom," who has been hovering about the windows of a room occupied by young ladies. There are a number of the cable employés rooming in the house, and they determined to keep a watch for him. Last night between 8 and 9 o'clock the man was discovered near the windows, when the boys blazed away with revolvers to frighten him. The fellow jumped like he was shot, and started on a dead run down Temple street, followed by quite a crowd. He was finally overhauled, and was about to be taken to the police station, but he begged so hard that he was finally allowed to go on promising not to repeat his offense in the future.

BISMARCK'S BIRTHDAY

The Old Statesman Receiving Congratulations.

He Intimates That His Political Career Has Not Yet Closed.

The Steamer City of Paris Not Injured as Badly as Reported.

Sudden Illness of the Czar—The Recent Plot Against His Life Hushed Up—Other Foreign News.

By Telegraph to The Times.

BERLIN, April 1.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Today was the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of Bismarck. The railway station at Friedrichsruhe was almost blocked by the enormous number of presents arriving for the Prince.

During the day Bismarck received numberless congratulatory telegrams. He spent the day quietly with his family. In the evening he was serenaded.

After the procession last night, Herr Woermann, in the course of conversation, expressed the hope that the Prince would not be altogether a stranger to politics, and that he would still take part in the debates in the Reichstag. To this Bismarck made an acquiescent reply.

Twelve hundred railroad men formed a torchlight procession tonight and marched to Bismarck's residence, where the ex-Chancellor was serenaded with patriotic songs. Bismarck spoke. After thanking the visitors, the Prince walked the entire length of the procession and was greeted with deafening cheers. He evinced considerable emotion, and was obliged to wipe away the tears that stood in his eyes. His speech is regarded as proof of keen and unimpaired intelligence and marvelous memory.

Besides his portrait, Emperor William sent Bismarck a handsome pipe and autograph letter.

THE DISABLED STEAMER.

The City of Paris Not Seriously Damaged.

LONDON, April 1.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The agents of the Inman line telegraph from Queenstown as follows:

"The flooded compartment of the City of Paris is all pumped dry. A close examination shows that the bottom of the vessel is uninjured, and all the bulkheads are sound, except those of the engine-room, which were somewhat damaged from the pounding of the broken machinery. The port engines are in working condition, and the steamer will leave Queenstown for Liverpool tonight under her own steam. In our judgment the vessel was throughout perfectly safe, and everything indicates that she would have continued to float indefinitely as she was, without further submersion or risk, after the original disaster occurred."

QUEENSTOWN, April 1.—The City of Paris has sailed for Liverpool.

ANGRY GRANGERS.

The Federal Supreme Court the Object of Their Ire.

ST. PAUL, April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The Farmers' Alliance of Minnesota met today, and after considering the recent "Granger" railroad decision of the United States Supreme Court, adopted a set of resolutions attacking that court in extraordinary manner. The resolutions characterize the decision as a "Second Dred Scott decision," and ask whether any other race would submit to have their rights wheedled away from them on technicalities by a squad of lawyers sitting as the supreme authority above Congress, the President and people.

"No government on earth," the resolutions say, "has conferred powers on any court such as is granted our Supreme Court. In our anxiety to protect the rights of property we have created a machinery that threatens to destroy the rights of many."

The resolutions further declare that copies be sent to every alliance in the country, with a request that they unite in an effort to so amend the Constitution as "to abolish this new slavery of States and the Nation, established by and for the benefit of corporate wealth, and to make it so plain that the people are masters that no court, however shallow or corrupt, shall ever again attempt to subject them to the domination of officicial personages they have themselves created."

WATERS STILL RISING.

THE FLOOD SITUATION ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

New Breaks in the Levees—Farmers Rescued from Trees and Housetops—Scenes of Suffering.

By Telegraph to The Times.

GREENVILLE (Miss.), April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The situation has been very wet here during the past 24 hours. The heavy rains last night and today made things disagreeable, in addition to the encroachment of the back water in the northern portion of the city. The water, which has not spread much since last night, is flowing over the tracks of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas road, thereby preventing the water from spreading very much in town. The water from the Huntington break is now passing back into the river through the Offat break, thereby relieving the water at our back considerably. The Easton break is, however, letting out a great quantity of water, which is fast spreading over the eastern portion of the county, and in some places it is quite deep. Today the Mayor appointed a committee to look after and care for those in distress in the overflowed portions of the city.

The Cotton Exchange today sent a report to the Associated Press, saying that the condition here is not as bad as it would seem to be to the outside world. Should the flood pass off in 30 days good crops can be made, which has been the case in nearly all cases of overflow.

PEOPLE ON THE HOUSE TOPS.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—Information comes as to the state of affairs in the flooded Laconia Circle, a section of country between Helena and Arkansas City, lying between the Mississippi and White rivers. The people have been on the tops of their houses and cling to trees for a week. Many of them are without food, and their stock, consisting of cattle, which were placed on platforms, were washed away and drowned.

Citizens of Helena sent the steamer Houston Coombs down last Thursday to aid the people. On Friday men went over the whole circle in skiffs and transferred the people from trees and roofs to the gin houses, which are generally large and substantial. All the houses are packed with people, 200 being in some of them. The Coombs brought out 130 people and 110 head of stock, arriving at Helena yesterday. When the Coombs came out the steamer Titan, with barges, was going down. It is thought they can bring out all the remaining stock and as many people as desire to go away. Many planters are utterly ruined.

RELIEVED BY THE AUSTIN BREAK.

HELENA (Ark.), April 1.—Owing to the break in the levee at Austin, Miss., Helena has received some relief, the river falling slightly here. Stock saved from the flood is having a fearful time withstanding the attacks of the buffalo-gnats that swarm in myriads.

A LAND CASE.

A Claim of Squatter's Title Finally Rejected.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—[By the Associated Press] In 1862 the owners of the Mexican grant of El Sobrante Contra Costa sold a portion of the grant, 810 acres of which, after several changes of ownership, came into the possession of Joseph Taylor, and afterward of his widow, Ann. The Taylors lived on the land from 1864 to 1882, when they rented it to W. L. Yates. A survey was then made, and showed Mrs. Taylor's land really lay outside the grant and belonged to the Government. Yates set up a squatter's title to the land, refusing to recognize any rights of Mrs. Taylor. The Department of the Interior decided in his favor, but the Secretary has just reversed the decision. Mrs. Taylor now has 60 days to buy the land from the Government, the law giving her a prior right of purchase.

She alleges that after acting as her attorney in obtaining a divorce from her husband, a Stockton photographer, he promised to marry her, but said he could not do so at once, as it would hamper him in his career. He asked her to live with him as his wife till he was free to marry her. She consented and lived with him four years in San Francisco and Washington. Then Loutitt married another woman; hence the suit.

The Chinese Census Bill in New Form.

Senate Amendments That Will Deprive It of Its Stringency.

The Public Debt Cut Down by Over Eleven Millions Last Month.

Those Florida Nominations Confirmed by the Senate—A Bill to Provide for an Ocean Patrol, Etc.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] At a meeting of the Senate Committee on Census the House bill providing for furnishing certificates to Chinese residents on the 1st of June, 1890, by enumerators of the census, with a view of prohibiting further immigration of Chinese to the United States, was amended. As reported to the Senate, the bill, in addition to the provisions heretofore given, provides that Chinese children born in the United States subsequent to June, 1890, shall not be held to be Chinese within the meaning of the act.

Another amendment makes the provision of the act apply only to Chinese who refuse to give the information required by the census enumerators, and who shall fail or refuse to obtain a certificate of identification provided for by another amendment. Chinese merchants, tourists and students are exempted from the operation of the act, provided they have certificates required by the act of July 5, 1884.

An additional section enables a Chinese resident who fails to obtain the required certificate of identification to prove by competent testimony that he has a right to one, which is his sole evidence of being lawfully in the United States. It is made a misdemeanor for any census enumerator to wilfully neglect or refuse to give the required certificate. In its present shape the bill is wholly unacceptable to the Pacific Coast.

Proposed System of Ocean Patrol.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Mr. Turner today introduced a preamble and joint resolution for the better protection of human life on the Atlantic Ocean. It calls attention to the recent accident to the City of Paris and says the rivalry between competing lines of steamships is so keen that considerations of safety and humanity are often lost sight of. It holds that better protection to human life and property can be afforded by a system of ocean patrol than by any other means. Such a system of ocean patrol must necessarily be maintained by different nations and the resolution invites them to confer with a view to securing their co-operation in the establishment of an efficient system of ocean patrol.

Prayer for Defends the Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—At a temperance meeting in All Souls' Church tonight, a letter from Secretary Proctor was read, of which the following is an extract: "I heartily sympathize with the efforts of the society in behalf of temperance in the army and navy, and shall do everything in my power to aid the good work. I am not prepared to admit that soldiers of our army are more intemperate than other classes of men. If a soldier is drunk, his very uniform makes it noticeable, and we may do them, as a class, injustice. Certainly, the more I see of the soldiers of our army, the greater respect I have for them."

JOHN WANTS TO VOTE.

New York Chinamen Seeking Political Rights.

NEW YORK, April 1.—[By the Associated Press.] A big poster on the billboard in front of No. 16 Mott street contained the following in Chinese characters:

"We the undersigned committee, respectfully inform you that the principal cause of our continued persecution by races who differ from us in civilization and language is the fact that we have no voting power, that power having been unjustly denied us by reason of partisan legislation through political rascality. This unjust legislation against us has been discovered by us recently to be unconstitutional, and it is our own sincere belief also that such unjust dealings with the Chinese do not represent the true sentiments of the blue-blooded Americans. We now desire our fellow-countrymen to unite with us in the effort to present our many grievances in a proper manner before the American people. This important movement is not only one that needs good words but good money to back it. Let all those who wish to enter into this matter with heart and money report at 9 Doyer street."

Wong Gong, the head of the committee which signs the document, said to a reporter: "I have been living here as an American citizen 16 years, and have lived like an alderman, too. When I went to get my full naturalization papers, the other day, the officials at court laughed at me, and told me that had I been born over again right here in New York, if my parents were Chinese I could not become a citizen. I got mad, and have been working hard ever since to get vengeance. If all the Chinese whose rights are denied them will join me, we can obtain what we want.

Gould's Doings in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 1.—It is reported probable that a deal will be made with Jay Gould for the Chamila Railroad. The report is doubted, as the railroad concession is now in the hands of a European syndicate. Another rumor has it that Gould will establish a steamship line from the United States to Mexican and Central and South American ports.

Sullivan and Corbett.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A local paper says it is practically settled that John L. Sullivan and Jim Corbett of San Francisco will meet in a four-round glove contest in about three weeks.

What! Is It Chagrin?

The growing popularity and increasing demand for the Coronado Natural Mineral Water has been unprecedented in the line of mineral waters. The Coronado proves to be an absolutely pure and wholesome water, hence it has taken first rank with the public for table use. Its merits being very great, the Coronado Water Company invite comparison with the Appolonaris, which invitation is printed on the labels of the Coronado Water, which have a cut of the Hotel del Coronado, also the analysis of the Coronado Water on it. The Coronado Water Company invite comparison, in fact, with any of the manufactured waters. Instead of freely acknowledging the corn, however, the Appolonaris Company has served an injunction on the Palace Hotel of San Francisco to prevent them from serving their customers with the more popular Coronado Water, under the slim pretext of the similarity of the labels.

THROUGH THE HILLS.

NECESSITY FOR THE OPENING OF FIRST STREET.

Meeting at the Chamber of Commerce Yesterday Afternoon to Consider the Propostion—Improved Communication Between the Western Section of the City and the Business Center Demanded.

Pursuant to a call issued some days ago, about fifty property-owners interested in the opening of First and Second streets met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Dr. J. P. Widney was chosen chairman and C. M. Wells secretary.

On taking the chair Dr. Widney explained the object of the meeting. He stated that the city is rapidly growing south and west, and something must be done to hold the business portion of the city where it now is. To do this cuts must be made through the hills. First and Second streets have been spoken of. He seemed to think it best to open First street westward so the street will extend from one side to the other. If this is not done this portion of the city will soon be as it is now in Sonoratown, for business must move south. Even if it costs $500,000 that sum should be raised at once, as it will save the city millions of dollars.

Mr. Wells was called on, and said he was disappointed, for he did not see the people who should take a deep interest in the opening of this boulevard. He stated that a majority of the people present were from the western portion of the city, and he expected to see property-owners on this side of the hills present, as it is greatly to their interests to open up First or Second streets, for if this is not done business must move south. He believes that Second street can be opened cheaper than any other. The cut will be made through from Olive to Hope by tunnel with no greater grade than 1 in 25. First street can be opened in the same way. The cut will begin at Broadway and be cut to Olive, then a tunnel to the west line of Hope, then an open cut on west.

The City Engineer was called on, and exhibited a map showing the cuts and tunnels. He estimated the cost, not including damages, at $178,093, and damages at $175,000. He estimated the cost through First street at about three hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars.

A. M. Hough thought something should be done at once. He is strongly opposed to tunnels. If cuts are made, the buildings will soon come down to a level with each other. If this city grows to a city of three or four hundred thousand population, these humps to the west of the city will have to come down, and the sooner work is begun the better it will be.

Mr. Witmer stated that the people of the western portion of the city are ready to open First street if the property-owners on this side of the hill are ready to stand in, but if they do not then they will go back to the Second-street scheme, for they have determined to get an opening to the city.

M. L. Wicks spoke strongly in favor of First street. It will prove of benefit to the owners on this side of the hills. He is willing to pay his share toward the cost.

A. M. Ellsworth is of the opinion that this opening will never be made unless a company takes hold. The people will not take interest enough in such a move to do anything, and a company should be organized.

Jessie Yarnell said he lived on the other side of the hills. His neighbors want to do business here, but if they have to climb the hill they must go south to the business-houses. They want the property-owners on this side to help them.

O. O. Trantum made a lengthy speech, in which he strongly opposed the opening of any cut through the hills.

Mr. Witmer said it makes no difference to him whether First street is cut through or not, and if no one on this side of the hill will make a motion to cut through First street, then he would move to adjourn.

Dr. Bryant favored Third street, but he believes there should be two or three streets, for it will benefit the whole city.

Those present seemed to be somewhat divided, and after a little more speech-making, in which Maj. Bonebrake and L. N. Breed took a hand, the meeting adjourned.

CATARRH, THROAT DISEASES, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption, together with diseases of the Eye, Ear and Heart, successfully treated by

By his hot air medicated inhalations and his compound oxygen treatment.

ASTHMA.

It is a common error to suppose every disease which is attended by oppressed breathing to be Asthma or Phthisic. We have shortness of breath in Consumption and Pneumonia just as we do in Asthma, only that in these diseases it is always present, whereas in Asthma it occurs in paroxysms.

Asthma is a spasmodic disease of the lungs, which manifests itself in periodic attacks or "fits." It comes on suddenly and is attended with great difficulty of breathing while it lasts, but when the attack is over the patient breathes almost as well as in health.

Nervous, Humid and Dry Asthma are names given to different forms of this disease. Emphysema is another and more inveterate kind of Asthma, while Hay Fever or Rose Cold is a peculiar variety of Asthma which occurs at a certain season of the year. Each of these forms of disease differs somewhat from the others in symptoms, but practically these distinctions are of very little value. It does not matter to the patient which form of Asthma he has, since his sufferings are the same in all. In one case the expectoration becomes yellow, and we call it Bronchial. In another it is light, and we call it dry. When he coughs up clear water, with a white froth on the surface, we say he has Humoral Asthma. In Nervous Asthma there is very little expectoration of any kind. Hay Fever always begins as a crying cold in the head or influenza, and a clear water runs from the nose and the eyes before the Asthma fit comes on. In Emphysema the expectoration is generally thick, and continues so in the interval between the fits, while the shortness of breath is increased on the slightest exertion.

Without courage and perseverance nothing is curable. But with these, aided by proper and skillful treatment, Asthma can be cured even after the lungs are extensively diseased.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance from business whatever. Every case of Asthma is curable. Eastern visitors and invalids will be wise in being cured before they return home.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally can write for a list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address

THE COURTS.

C. H. BOYCE'S EMBEZZLEMENT CASE TO COME UP TODAY.

The Second Trial of H. H. Boyce for Blackmail Set for May 5th Before Judge Shaw—Sam Kee's Second Trial—The Schmidt-Deste Case—New Cases.

When the case of Charles H. Boyce was called before Justice Savage yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the defendant was present in court with his counsel, W. T. Williams, Esq. Mrs. Ada Eubanks, the complaining witness, was also present, with her little girl. The Court was engaged in the trial of another case, which could not be postponed, and Mr. Williams was also due in another court, consequently it was arranged that the examination should go over until this morning at 10 o'clock. The Court took the precaution to call on all the witnesses to be present without further notice this morning, before allowing them to depart.

The case assumes more than ordinary importance from the strenuous efforts being made by outside influences to frighten or cajole Mrs. Eubanks into letting the prosecution drop. She has addressed a note to the Court, as announced yesterday, stating that the defendant has satisfactorily explained to her why he sold her furniture. She was not subpœnaed and did not appear when the case was called Monday. Yesterday, however, the process of the Court brought her to the courtroom on time. The present attitude of Mrs. Eubanks is so at variance with the statements she has heretofore made of her great desire to allow the defendant to have justice meted out to him that considerable interest is being felt in the matter, and the various steps of the proceedings are being watched closely.

District Attorney Kelly was seen yesterday afternoon, and he said that it had been intimated that there was an attempt being made not to let the case come to an examination, but he said the facts as presented to the District Attorney's office and the evidence outside of Mrs. Eubanks's statement warrant an investigation, and he proposes to see that it takes place.

BOYCE, THE BLACKMAILER.

Yesterday morning, in Judge Shaw's court, the matter of a second trial in the case of H. H. Boyce, indicted by the Grand Jury for blackmail, came up. The last trial resulted in a hung jury, it being understood that at one time the jury stood 11 for conviction, one refusing to vote, it being Sunday. After some little consultation of the calendar, the date for the trial was fixed for May 5th, that being the earliest day which could be given by the Court.

SAM KEE'S SECOND TRIAL.

The second trial of Sam Kee, charged with snatching a purse from an old Chinaman at Pomona, began before Judge Cheney yesterday, and will be continued today. About the same line of testimony was introduced by the prosecution as upon the first trial, the pilfer being described by eye-witnesses outlined its theory as before, that the defendant was playing tan in a back room of the store where the alleged robbery took place, and that the prosecuting witness was dealing the game, cheating him out of his own money. The trial will be resumed this morning.

SCHMIDT VS. DESTE.

The case of Schmidt vs. Desté was resumed before Judge Shaw yesterday morning, and the business complications between the parties were thoroughly ventilated throughout the day. The litigation between Schmidt and the Destés has lasted a long time, and seems interminable. The Court finally had the case submitted to him and took it under advisement.

NEW CASES.

The Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Los Angeles began suit against William P. Barnes et al. to secure judgment for $3537.50 due upon a promissory note for $4500.

The cargoes discharged were in the aggregate as follows: Merchandise, 1046 tons; lumber, 2,177,000 feet; lath, 35,100; paper, 15 tons; bituminous rock, 228 tons; 210 hogs, and 3400 tons of coal.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

The citizens of San Pedro held a mass meeting last evening, at Crocker's Hall, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the municipal offices, to be filled at the city election on the 14th inst. The meeting was largely attended, and much interest was manifested. There are three trustees, a City Clerk, City Marshal and City Treasurer to be elected, and the balloting for candidates was not completed until after 1 o'clock a.m. The following ticket was nominated: For trustees, James H. Dodson, Frank Ellis and N. O. Anderson (present incumbent); for City Clerk, Henry C. Downing (present incumbent); for City Marshal, George Morris; for City Treasurer, Alexander Urquahart, now filling, by appointment of the trustees, the vacancy in that office caused by the death of the late William L. Banning. There is no party significance in the action of the meeting.

THE ELECTRIC ROAD.

Arrival of General Manager Hentig—What He Says of the Enterprise.

Dr. F. G. Hentig, general manager of the new Electric Railroad Company, has arrived in the city to begin active operations in putting the road in shape. He was seen last night at the Ardmour, on South Broadway, where he is stopping with his family.

The officers of the company are Dan McFarland, president; Byron Roberts of Topeka, Kan., vice-president; W. W. Manspeaker of Topeka, secretary and treasurer. As heretofore stated, the company has purchased the franchise of the old company, and propose to create a successful enterprise, utilizing all the old plant possible. The roadbed and poles still occupy Pico street, and while the unsightly poles and cross-arms will be done away with, the roadbed will be brought up to the necessary requirements.

From Dr. Hentig it was learned that the contracts for the rolling-stock have already been let to the Pullman Company, and that all the things necessary for the equipment of the road are now being constructed. The company will use the Sprague system, now in use in Omaha, St. Joe, Cleveland, Cincinnati and elsewhere. It has before been explained that this system employs poles on each side of the street. Wires stretched across carry the wires or "trulleys," and there are no gallows effects in the poles. The poles to be used by the new company are 30 feet in length and will be six and one-half feet in the ground, set in cement. They are cedar poles and shaved to octagonal shape.

It will require a vast amount of work to put the road in operation, and the rolling-stock is to be first-class in every respect. The truck to be used is known as the Hubbard truck, being the latest invention. The cars will be lit with electricity, five lights to a car, consisting of a spangle of three in the center and one at each end, the lights being of 16-candle power.

The first line to be put in operation will be from Los Angeles street at the Plaza to the Catholic Academy beyond Pico Heights. Following this the south and east branches will be built as rapidly as possible.

While there may be delays consequent upon the filling of the contract made, still Dr. Hentig hopes to put the first section in operation by June. He stated that he has come to commence the work at once, and Mr. Manspeaker will be here shortly. They will both [illegible] at present County Treasurer at Topeka. The company represents considerable capital. It expects to put into the road between two and three hundred thousand dollars, of which the eastern capital represents about three-fifths.

One of the most tedious pieces of work to be done is putting the roadbed in shape, the rails must be riveted together, forming a complete circuit, and it will necessarily take some little time to do the work.

Dr. Hentig seems to think that the Sprague system is a great success, and prefers to do the work and let the public judge of the result without much newspaper talk.

NOTARIES PUBLIC

Disturbed Over Rumors of an Increase in Their Number.

For several days past the notaries public of the city have been considerably exercised over rumors that Gov. Waterman intended to appoint 50 more notaries for Los Angeles. These rumors soon became so pointed that the notaries were compelled to take notice of them, and consulted with attorneys on the matter. They were told that the full quota of notaries for Los Angeles had been filled, and that, should Gov. Waterman attempt to appoint more, his act would be illegal. This move, on the part of the Governor, is believed to be a part of the scheme to try and capture the Los Angeles delegation in the convention. That there is something more in the matter than mere rumor is shown from the fact that the notaries themselves deem it worthy of attention, and will hold a meeting in Justice Savage's courtroom this evening to take such action in the premises as they may deem advisable.

CROWN HILLS.

Meeting of the Improvement Society Last Night.

A meeting of the Crown Hills Improvement Society was held last night, at which great interest was manifested in the matter of securing a good traffic grade on Second and First streets.

It may not generally be known that the Los Angeles Improvement Company is improving the Belmont Hotel grounds, and if they continue the good work will have a park equal to any in the city. The only trouble is with stray cattle and dogs. Only last Sunday morning 32 head of cattle were found pasturing on their grounds, and the company warns all parties owning stock and dogs to keep them within bounds. If not they say they will enclose the ground with a wire fence, thereby depriving ladies and children of the pleasure and advantages of a park. The secretary of the society was instructed to notify the Chief of Police that the cow ordinance was continually being violated.

The next meeting will be held in the hall of the Ellis College building.

The Recorder's Office.

The County Recorder furnishes the following summary of the business transacted in his office during the months of January, February and March, showing the daily averages, also the porportionate increase:

NARROW ESCAPE.

A Frenchman Struck by a Train and Badly Injured.

Early yesterday morning some workmen on Mission street, in East Los Angeles, near the park, saw a man thrown from the Southern Pacific track by a moving train. After laying on the ground for a few moments he arose and one of the teamsters helped him on his wagon and took him to the East Side station. He was considerably dazed at the time and partially unconscious and could give no account of the accident.

The central station was telephoned, and Officer Sanchez and Sergt. Jeffries took the patrol wagon and brought him in, when his injuries, which consisted of an ugly cut on the face and some bruises, were attended by Dr. Wing. The man gave the name of Eugene d'Estrees. He is a Frenchman, and it is claimed that he has been drinking absinthe for some weeks. It is supposed that while out of his mind he wandered out to the place where he was struck by the train. About two hundred and forty dollars in money and a gold watch were found on his person. He was sent out to the Sisters' Hospital for treatment. His injuries are painful, but not of a serious nature.

MRS GRAHAM'S CUCUMBER AND ELDER FLOWER CREAM

Is not a cosmetic, but has marvelous power to soften, whiten, bleach and purify the human skin. It is prepared from the milk of almonds, the juice of the cucumber and the purest elder flower water, and is an exquisite toilet preparation, neither greasy nor cloying, and by its purifying and healing qualities it renders the skin beautifully soft, pure and of satin-like texture and bloom, keeping it free from wrinkles and preserving its youthful appearance unto old age. For cleansing the face from cosmetics or other impurities it is vastly superior to soap and water, vaseline or other preparations. It cures chapped lips or hands and roughened skin and prevents tan and freckles. It should be on every lady's dressing-case. Price, $1 per bottle.

Mrs. Graham's Eugenie Enamel creates a perfect complexion instantly. Lasts all day and cannot be detected. Harmless and elegant. Price $1.

Sold by all druggists and by my lady agent, MRS. A. T. YAPLE, Ramona Hotel, Los Angeles. F. W. BRAUN & CO., Los Angeles, wholesale agents for Southern California.

CITY COUNCIL.

A VARIETY OF BUSINESS TRANSACTED YESTERDAY.

An Adjourned Meeting — Petitions, Recommendations and Bills — Experting the Books — Sewer Contract—Sidewalks, Etc.

At 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning Saturday's adjourned session of the Board of Trustees was called to order by President Throop, City Clerk Campbell at his post. The following members of the board were present: E. Millard, W. W. Mills, A. McLean and John Allin.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A petition was read from William Boorman of 69 South Fair Oaks avenue, requesting permission to place a three-inch-square signpost on the curb in front of his establishment. Referred to the Committee on Streets and Alleys.

The City Clerk read a recommendation to the effect that tax sale No. 383 be canceled, and on motion the same was so ordered.

President Throop next broached the matter of the payment of the City Hall rent for the month of April. Moved that the City Clerk be authorized to draw a warrant in favor of C. T. Hopkins for the payment of the said rent. Carried.

As a special committee appointed by the Finance Committee, Mr. McLain stated to the Council that he had thoroughly looked into the matter of securing the services of an expert book-keeper to examine the report upon the Council's books. Upon his recommendation, a resolution drawn up by the City Attorney, authorizing the employment of D. Galbraith, an expert accountant, at $5 per day, with a proper assistant at $2.50 per day, was adopted. Mr. Galbraith will go to work at the City Clerk's books this morning.

At the last regular session the bids for furnishing materials for use in the city's sewer construction (published in THE TIMES of Sunday last) were opened. Among the bids then received was that of Houlahan & Griffith, which was yesterday accepted, with instructions to the City Attorney to draw up at once the formal contract. The Committee on Sewers recommended that the said firm of Houlahan & Griffith be required to furnish bond on the contract in the sum of $200, which was declared to be an essential to the contract by the Council.

The Committee on Streets and Alleys reported that work would be commenced in the middle of the present week on the Scoville bridge on the line of the boulevard.

The City Attorney, who was present during the greater part of the Council's sitting, was asked by President Throop to enforce the building of sidewalks in front of public buildings (the City Library, for instance,) and in front of vacant lots. The City Attorney will look up in time for the next Council meeting all legal rights and processes appertaining to the question.

The following bills were audited and ordered paid: Houlahan & Griffith, $486.27; James Cambell, $70.52; J. W. Mosher, janitor, $15; E. L. Marsh, Assistant Clerk, on extra time, $57.50; total, $629.29.

L. C. Torrance, representing the Pasadena Gas and Electric Light Company, appeared before the board and requested that his petition of the electric franchise be taken under consideration if at present feasible. A general and informal discussion followed, and resulted in a refusal of the request. Several pointed suggestions were made, the City Attorney remarking that if it were not for the early retirement of the present incumbents of the Council an ordinance might be passed compelling the publication of all sought-for concessions in the way of franchises, etc. Under the present circumstances only one side is represented, and the people's cause is more or less neglected.

The foregoing question of public interest will evidently have to be dealt with by the newly-elected Board of Trustees.

Adjourned.

BOARD OF TRADE.

Preparing for the Coming Visit of the Medicos.

There was a meeting of the Pasadena Board of Trade yesterday afternoon, at which Vice-President J. A. Buchanan presided. Secretary Rossiter recorded the following gentlemen of the board as present: R. Williams, C. C. Brown, W. T. Clapp, B. T. Brockway and Maj. Throop.

At the request of the chairman Dr. Van Slyck appeared before the board and urged assistance in the matter of entertaining the members of the State Medical Society, which will meet in Los Angeles on April 14th, 15th and 16th. He said that of course all of the doctors would be desirous of visiting the much talked-of Pasadena, especially those who had never come to the city of beautiful homes. He, therefore, proposed an excursion from their general rendezvous, Los Angeles, to Pasadena, and he felt confident that about one hundred and fifty of the doctors would attend. Unfortunately, the time would be limited, as the medical men would have to make their visits between sessions. They would leave Los Angeles at 11:30 over the Cross road and remain here an hour and a half. A very nice luncheon at the Webster could be given the visitors for $50.

C. C. Brown moved that a committee of six, three physicians and three citizens, be appointed to solicit funds and make arrangements for the luncheon at the Webster. At the request of the chair, Drs. Rowland, McAllister and Van Slyck and Messrs. Brown, Williams and Masters will constitute the above-named committee.

It further proved the sense of the board that citizens should turn out with their carriages to take the visiting physicians for a drive through the city.

Dr. Van Slyck and C. C. Brown were appointed a committee to make all necessary arrangements for the drive, which will necessarily be confined to one hour's duration.

Dr. Van Slyck stated that the visiting physicians would be expected to pay their own way out and return over the Cross road.

The secretary next read a communication from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce inviting the attention of the Pasadena board to the question of maintaining exhibits of Southern California for two years in the East. After some discussion, it was decided to have Messrs. Masters, Throop and Brown appear before the next regular meeting of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to consult on the subject to ascertain the probable cost of the proposed eastern exhibit and Pasadena's proportion of the same.

The Torrey bill, to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the States, was taken under consideration. Upon the motion of Mr. Williams, the president, vice-president and secretary of the Board of Trade were entrusted with the task of preparing for the next regular meeting a recommendation for the board's final action.

Adjourned.

COURT NEWS.

Civil and Criminal Matters Settled or Under Consideration.

On the 21st of March last a judgment was rendered in the Superior Court of Los Angeles in favor of W. A. Ray, as trustee, against the Pasadena Library and Village Improvement Company for $979.55; an execution was issued to satisfy said judgment, and a large number of books, pamphlets, papers, maps, furniture and fixtures were levied upon by Deputy Sheriff Slater, and yesterday the sale took place and the property was bid in by the plaintiffs.

TRIBUNE ROUTES SOLD.

As stated exclusively in THE TIMES of yesterday, the forced sale of the routes and collection book of the Los Angeles Tribune for Pasadena and vicinity took place in front of the City Hall at 10 o'clock. The sale was made under a levy by Constable Butterworth to satisfy a judgment against R. H. Thomas, the route manager, in favor of Lawrence Buckley, for the rent of a dwelling-house which Thomas had vacated after half the term of the lease had expired. The notes were bid in by the plaintiff at $125.

ROWDY PAISANOS.

A quartette of hijos del pais made last Sunday night hideous with their yells, hoots and oaths in the vicinity of Lake and Colorado streets, and as a result an information was sworn to before Justice Van Doren on Monday, charging them with disturbing the peace.

It seems that the party was on "a high lonesome," and had a few knock-outs among themselves, and on being driven away from the locality one, Manuel Malizan, left several large sections of his rather frail garments behind him. He was found by Deputy Sheriff Slater, and duly arraigned, pleaded guilty and was fined $10, and in default of payment was taken to the County Jail for 10 days.

Dolores, another of the party, was brought before the Justice later, and on being questioned the Judge concluded that he had not been an active participant in the row, and therefore let him off. The other two had not been captured when this report closed. Malizan seems to have been the worst of the lot, and is described as rather a tough citizen.

MRS KEARNS VS. MR. PICKERING.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. L. L. Kearns, a somewhat noted female, swore to an information before Justice Van Doren, charging William Pickering, a blacksmith, with using vulgar, profane and indecent language in the presence of herself and child. Mr. Pickering appeared in court, pleaded not guilty, and tomorrow was set for his examination. A feud exists between the two, and spicy testimony is anticipated at the examination.

AN INCIDENT OF THE WAR.

Rev. Mr. Pittenger Tells the Story of the Mitchell Railroad Raid.

Last Monday evening a select audience assembled at the Tabernacle to hear the Rev. Mr. Pittenger—Lieut. William Pittenger, Second Ohio, during the Civil War—on the "Great Railroad Charge," a lecture of individual war reminiscences.

Having been introduced by the Rev. P. F. Bresee, Mr. Pittenger proceeded to tell, in a quiet and pleasant strain, the story of an expedition possessing all the daring and wildness of romance. This story of almost incredible adventures is not one to stir up the sectional hatred of by-gone days; it is simply an interesting narrative of individual and secret adventure, well calculated to bring to the mind of the young and inexperienced the real spirit of the soldier in war. The thread of the story takes its hearer back to 1862, the second year of the war, at which time Gen. Ormsby Mitchell was second in command of the Army of the Ohio. A certain daring spy by the name of Andrews leads, with Mitchell's permission, 23 picked men into the very heart of the Confederate lines, to destroy that important railroad connecting Chattanooga and Atlanta. The result, if the gigantic task could be accomplished, would be to separate the southern forces and give over Chattanooga into the hands of Buell, Mitchell & Grant. If failure, however, death on the scaffold to the participants in the bold enterprise. These men, in citizens' clothes, and armed only with pistols, undertook an enterprise none the less praiseworthy because unsuccessful, and upon this thread the lecturer, who was one of the party, builds his story.

It is entirely too long for repetition; indeed, the lecturer did not bring the tale of daring deeds to an end himself. But it was an exceedingly interesting story, well told, and founded on a topic that never fails to secure an audience.

POULTRY.

Chicks in Brooders.

[Exchange.]

When placing chicks in a brooder it is better to first place some dry sand in it, then get it warmed to the degree you desire. Ninety degrees is pretty high, and if maintained will prove weakening on the chicks. An average temperature of 85° to 88° will be found to thoroughly satisfy the little fellows, and when they are satisfied the brooder is good enough. The sand placed on the brooder is of a two-fold benefit. It makes the brooder easy to clean, and furnishes small grit for the chics to pick at, besides, when it once gets warm, it assists greatly in maintaining an even temperature all through the day, and especially at night, when the temperature naturally grows cooler. If the brooder is at the proper temperature the chicks will never crowd. They will sit around in one place and another with the most perfect contentment or wallow in the dry sand. Whenever they begin to crowd up into one chrner you may be assured that they are too cold. If they are neither cold, hungry or thirsty they will never cry out in that pitiful manner that always tells the person caring for them that they are not comfortable in every respect.

It is of the utmost importance that chicks in a brooder be not allowed to get wet. If they get wet and get sand in their feathers, or dirt all over their legs and heads, they soon succumb. To avoid this it is better to have the drinking-vessel outside of the run, where they can poke their heads through between the slats and drink without getting their feet and bodies into the water. The food should not be wet. It should be dampened [illegible] the water is readily absorbed.

Cleanliness is absolutely necessary and should be strictly observed. A brooder two feet square, containing 50 chicks, will get very filthy in a day, and should be thoroughly cleaned every morning. This takes very little time, but it pays quite well to do it. As soon as possible allow them to run out upon the ground. You will be suprised to see how steadily and constantly they will work if you allow them to get down upon the ground. It is necessary, however, to notice about the state of the earth. If it be cold and damp they should not be allowed to remain out very long at a time. The ground should be dug up in one corner with a small shovel or a stick, and a few grains of wheat scattered over it. The way the little fellows will scratch for it is wonderful indeed, and it makes them strong and muscular.

Notes.

[Exchange.]

Poultry will thrive best on sloping, sandy soil.

Perfectly clean water is essential to the health of fowls.

Fowls that roost in trees seldom are sick from roup, unless introduced by other fowls.

Ticks can be destroyed by insect powder. Just an ounce of powder in four gallons of water, and thoroughly wet the fowls with it.

Scaly-leg in fowls is caused by a parasite. Lard and sulphur, with a little insect powder, will cure it.

The best hens to select for breeding should have bright feathers, be large, well formed, broad-chested, short-legged, young and plump. The male bird should have the same characteristics generally, with the addition of fancy points sought to be obtained in the progeny. He should be about 1 year old, and mated with not more than 10 hens.

Nest boxes, before being filled with straw, should be whitewashed with lime, or else washed with kerosene; the straw should be dusted with sulphur, and the hen before setting be well dusted with insect powder; all to kill lice and ticks.

The fowlhouse should be thoroughly whitewashed four times a year. Make the wash with quicklime; add one ounce of carbolic acid to every gallon. This will kill all the lice and destroy all the nits. If the walls are required to be of a buff color, also add one ounce of copperas to each gallon. A good cement floor for a fowlhouse can be made by breaking up the surface to the depth of an inch; cover it with one-fourth inch of lime; mix together, breaking all lumps; water it well, then flatten the "mortar" with the back of a spade, and in a day or so the floor will be set.

If you can possibly do so you should let your chickens roam the fields free and unrestricted once in a while. This can be done by allowing one pen to range one afternoon, another, another afternoon, and so on. It will be found very beneficial to do so. They will be enabled to find many bugs, worms and insects, that they can assimilate to a great advantage and that they cannot get in the yards. Nothing conduces to the health and continued growth and development of the egg-producing faculties in a pullet as does a free range over a clover sod, a stubble-field or a woods pasture.

APIARY.

Eucalyptus Honey.

[London Grocer.]

Among the products of the antipodes which we may reasonably expect to be able to enjoy in the near future is the eucalyptus honey. This honey is secreted by a small species of black bee peculiar to Australia. The bees build enormous hives, after the fashion of wasps, on the topmost boughs of the gigantic eucalyptus globulus or blue-gum tree. The honey has been known and appreciated for years, and there is no sign of any deterioration among the bees or in their products. It is by no means uncommon to find these natural hives containing as much as ten thousand pounds of honey; we are not surprised, therefore, to hear that it is already an important commodity in Australia. The eucalyptus honey is a thick syrup, very similar in appearance to ordinary English honey, but it does not get crystalline so easily—an advantage to its sale—and it has a strong aromatic odor, which is soon appreciated.

Five Per Cent. Interest Paid on Deposits.

The notice of the public is called to the fact that this bank only loans money on approved real-estate security; that it does not loan money to its stockholders, officers or clerks; that among its stockholders are some of the oldest and most responsible citizens of the community; that, under the State laws, the private estates of its stockholders are pro rata liable for the total indebtedness of the bank.

These facts, with care exercised in making loans, insure a safe depository for saving accounts. School teachers, clerks, mechanics, employes in factories and shops, laborers, etc., will find it convenient to make deposits in small amounts.

Financial agents for Eastern and San Francisco capital. Money to loan on ranches and city property. Bonds and mortgages bought. Remittances may be sent by draft or Wells-Fargo Express.

This beautiful book is the most practical work of the kind that has ever been printed and will be warmly welcomed by our readers. Its author has had a long and extended experience in artistic needlework, and in this volume she has carefully set forth the results of her study and labor in this fascinating department of art.

She has illustrated her work by means of COLORED PLATES, each one of which is made directly from the piece of embroidery which it represents. On one page of the book she shows an outline pattern of the leaves, and on the opposite page is a beautiful COLORED PLATE showing the pattern as it appears after it has been properly worked. This plate shows the exact colors that were used in doing the work, and the outline pattern is lettered and numbered, and the author gives full directions for working the colors.

There are Eight of These Colored Plates, as Follows:

Autumn Leaves, Yellow Daisies,
Golden Rod, Wild Roses, Tulips,
Morning Glories, Thistles, Pansies.

Any lady can master the beautiful art of Embroidery in Colors without any other instructions than this valuable book gives. THIS WORK IS PRINTED ON HEAVY TINTED PAPER and is bound with beautifully illuminated cover. It is such a book as ordinarily sells in book stores for $2, but because it is a volume especially adapted to the needs of every household we have put the price within the reach of all.

We will send the Book, postpaid, on receipt of $1.00.
